

Light Therapy for Autism by Sadness

People may get mild autism because of sadness.

They avoid contacting with the outside world,
living within their own one and lack of communication.

They avoid talking about the sadness itself,
they prefer self-reclusive.

Light Therapy for Autism by Sadness

Light Intuitive louver

People who live with such persons or they themselves could start the light intuitive mode by turning on this system.

The louver will adjust to the light outside and inside, helping to provide enough light totally for this room.

At anytime they feel uncomfortable, they can turn it off.

Light Therapy for Autism by Sadness

Light Therapy for Autism by Sadness

The openness of the louver can provide a view of the outside world, by which to provide a stimulus to the autism people to walk outside, to get in touch with the outside world.

Dark and stuffy environment may aggravate the depression of autism people. Light and heat can make them feel warmer and better by changing the environment.

